

Red Amp's owner and main composer is Jody Boyd. Jody's skills are born from a three-decade history with professional music. He has channeled his experience into his music compositions and award winning sound design and mixing skills for a wide variety of clients and projects.

Jody has been immersed in music since he was seven years old. He attended Virginia Tech as the honoree of various scholarships and finished his Bachelors of Music degree from Virginia Commonwealth University. While working on his Masters degree, Jody was also a graduate teaching assistant at the prestigious Eastman School of Music in New York.

He is widely regarded as a studio musician with more than 25 years of professional experience. His ability to play many instruments (including drums/percussion, guitar and keyboard), and many styles of music gives Jody a rare versatility. He has performed with the Roanoke and Richmond Virginia symphonies as well as many regional bands. He is also a gifted and sought after music producer and has produced dozens of recordings for regional artists.
